

TOADYISM AND ROYAL BLOOD.

The arrival in the Canadian Dominion of the Marquis of Lorne and his royal wife, is attracting considerable attention, and is throwing the people in a state of hilarious excitement, and calling out an enthusiastic outburst of loyal affection for the royal family of England. The English people love royalty. They admire blood and position. The subjects on this side of the waters in this respect are not behind those across the Atlantic. Hence, the arrival for the first time on the shores of Her Majesty's Dominion in North America, of Lord Lorne and Her Royal Highness, was an occasion which aroused the citizens of Halifax to the highest pitch of agitation. Such an enthusiastic demonstration was never before seen, hardly excepting the visit of the Prince of Wales in 1860. Flags were unfurled to the breeze, ships and buildings were lavishly decorated, grand arches bridged the streets, lights blazed from every window, people intoxicated with excitement thronged all the avenues, and cannons fairly shook the earth. The royal steamer Sarmatian was conveyed to land by a naval fleet, and the reception of the vice-regal party was invested with all the splendor, the army, the navy, and the civic authorities could possibly confer.

John Douglas Sutherland Campbell, Marquis of Lorne, and Governor-General of Canada, is the eldest son of the present Duke of Argyll, and is a clever youth of thirty-two. There is no royal blood in his veins, but his marriage in 1871 with Louise, fourth daughter of Queen Victoria, has given him a position which he could never otherwise gain. His marriage with a princess, and his appointment as Governor-General, have caused English subjects to lionize him. The base sycophants of the people, and the servile adulation of the press displayed on the Marquis's reception, were sickening to say the least. The Governor-General of Canada, a well meaning young man, who could not, or at least did not, write his own response to the welcome speech at Halifax, is paid more homage than even the Son of Man received while on earth. Jesus entered Jerusalem astride a colt, and many spread their garments in the way, and the people cried, "Hosanna!" but the Marquis of Lorne is conveyed to the Dominion of Canada in all the splendor that royalty could command, and his reception was characterized by all the pomp and ceremony it was in the power of a great nation to inaugurate.

The modern American is pretty well tainted with sycophancy and toadyism. The newspapers are filled with stirring accounts of the arrival of the Marquis and Louise, and the people read them with a greed. The best type of an American abhors such extreme adulation and flattery, but our high-toned society gets down on its knees and worships position and wealth, but will not even recognize character and worth. There was a time in the days of our primitive simplicity, when there was nobility in solid character, but that time has passed away. Persons are now reckoned by what they are worth in money, and the influence they can wield, and not by what they are or the good they do. The American people are retrograding in this respect. They are beginning to admire titles and fall at the feet of dukes and princesses. They should think of Thomas Jefferson, who, when first inaugurated President of the United States, rode into the city of Washington on horseback, with no body guard following him, hitched his horse to a post, and modestly walked into the Capitol to take the oath. Abraham Lincoln, whose name will be remembered, and whose character will be honored, when the names of kings and queens shall have perished from the memory of mankind, rode in a common omnibus from his home to the depot, when he started for Washington to bear responsibilities a million times greater than those of Lorne's, and said the conveyance was good enough. Grant took passage for Europe in an American vessel with hundreds of other Americans. He went as an American, as an American, acted like a sensible American, and the world honors him for his manliness. These illustrations of simplicity of character are worth remembering, lest we degrade the name of American by enlisting in the army of toadies and humbugs.

The Secretary of the Treasury has complied with the resolutions adopted at the last session of Congress, requiring him to furnish a statement of all money expended by the Government in the District of Columbia since its organization. The Capitol building has cost, in round numbers 17 millions of dollars, the congressional library, $1, 575,000, the White House, $1,640,000, the Treasury department, 7 millions, the State department, 5 millions, the Navy department 4 millions, the post office department $2,124,000, the Patent Office, 13 millions, and the works of art, $602,569.

In Falls county, Texas, the Greenback party put up a county ticket in opposition to the Democratic party and elected it by majorities ranging from twenty-five to five hundred. Though beaten at the polls, the Democrats were bound not to be beaten in the canvassing of the votes, and accordingly every Democratic candidate was declared elected, and certificates issued to each. The high handed and bare-faced proceeding has aroused the Greenbackers, who will contest the elections, and the best lawyers in Texas have been engaged by the Greenbackers.

The President's message is ready for delivery to both branches of Congress, and will be sent to them on Monday. It is principally occupied in discussing the Southern frauds and bulldozing, and the silver question. The President maintains that his Southern policy is right in theory, it false in practice; and that silver should be demonetized.

Vice President Wheeler has been quizzed for several months, and inquiries have been going around of his whereabouts. The Buffalo Express makes this explanation: "The fact is, this man has the rare and blessed faculty of keeping quiet when there is no use in making a fuss, and saying nothing when he has nothing to say."

The Republicans of New York State have reason to be proud of their recent victory. Outside of the city of New York, the Republican plurality on Congressmen was 91,614. New York is preparing to give a grand Republican victory in 1880.

"Old Abe," the war eagle of Wisconsin, will go to Boston, at the request of Governor Rice, to aid the ladies of the Old South Church in raising money with which to restore and preserve that time-honored structure.

The Evening Wisconsin maintains that Hon. Horace H. Stille still has editorial connection with that paper.

LONDON, 27.—2 a. m.—A dispatch just received at Llayde, from Masslois, Holland, announces that the steamer City of Amsterdam has arrived there with Captain Schurensen, of the steamer Pommerania, on board, who was at first reported among the lost.

THE DISASTER.

Further Particulars of the Steamship Disaster in the English Channel.

New York, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Wm. B. Clymer, of this city, reported lost on the Pommerania, was only sister of Hon. Hester Clymer, of Pennsylvania, member of Congress for many years, sister of Dr. George Clymer, Medical Director of the United States navy, now living in Washington. Her brothers are Daniel R. Clymer, attorney, Reading, Pa.; Wm. H. Edward M. and George Clymer, ironmasters, respectively in Pennsylvania, New York, and Ohio. She lived in Pennsylvania until 1858, when she married Mr. William B. Clymer, who was her cousin, and heir to the large Bingham Ashburton coal lands of Pennsylvania, and also owned much real estate in New York. When inquiries were made at the house of Dr. Meredith, to ascertain if the Clymers on board the Pommerania were relations of his, he said it was the first he had heard of the disaster, and the shock was so great to him he could hardly speak. His silence told the truth. William B. Clymer was Dr. Meredith's cousin, and had been, until death, a brother to him. Dr. Clymer had for the last few years regarded the family of his cousin as if it were his own. He said: "If it were lost it will be like losing my own family." Schurick Clymer, son of George Clymer, went abroad in the Pommerania on that vessel's last trip, and is now in Paris where he intended to meet the Clymers who are supposed to be lost. William B. Clymer was the oldest grandson of George Clymer, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence and one of the framers of the Federal Constitution.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Hampton's Attention to Be Called to the Outrages in that State.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The Attorney General was engaged in argument before the Supreme Court to-day, and was not able to submit to the Cabinet, as intended, the reports of the United States officials engaged in the investigation of the election frauds in South Carolina, but the matter was informally talked over, and it has been decided that the Attorney General shall write a letter to Governor Hampton citing cases in which Federal officials have been interfered with by the State authorities, and requesting him to direct the officers of the State to suspend proceedings against all persons arrested under State warrants whose evidence is necessary to the District Attorney in prosecuting the election frauds; also to suspend proceedings against all persons engaged in assisting the District Attorney in his official duties. In every case reported United States Commissioners and witnesses have been arrested in the midst of investigation, under State warrants on fictitious charges, and held in custody long enough to prevent their obtaining evidence. This process is also influential in intimidating witnesses, and colored men especially are frightened away from the officials. The President thinks such a letter will bring the matter directly to Hampton's attention, and it will then be seen whether he intends to abide by his pledges or protect the "red shirts," and arrest them in escaping prosecution.

Suicide at La Crosse—A Murder Trial in Milwaukee—Hymeneal—Obituary.

LA CROSSE, Nov. 26.—James Judge, a stranger hailing from Winnetka, Minn., made a determined attempt to kill himself here this afternoon, cutting his throat from ear to ear with a case knife. Cause unknown.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 26.—The second trial of Russ Wheeler for killing Theodore B. Hedder, in June last, was called in the Municipal Court to-day, for which it was set down, but as the term of Court will end this week, and Thanksgiving day intervenes, it was thought the trial could not be completed, and it was set for two weeks from to-day and postponed till that time. Moses M. Strong, of Mineral Point, has been engaged to assist in the defense. FORT DU LAC, Nov. 26.—A notable wedding took place at St. Mark's church, in the neighborhood village of Kresende, this morning, the contracting parties being John R. Patty, of this city, and Miss McDora G. Matteson, of Rosendale. Bishop Brown officiated. The happy couple are holding a reception at the Patty house, in this city, this evening, extending over five hundred guests. The bride was the recipient of numerous costly presents.

PALMIRA, Nov. 25.—Two old settlers of the village, Mr. C. Wilson and Mrs. L. Coon, were united in marriage Saturday evening. The groom is 70 and the bride past 60 years old. The happy couple dispensed with the customary wedding trip, entering upon the pleasant duties of house-keeping immediately.

BOSWELL, Wis., Nov. 26.—The community was very much surprised Sunday morning to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. T. J. Anderson the night before, as it was the first intimation that they had of her being very sick. The cause of death is said to be dropsy. Last night about midnight the watchers with the body were startled to hear the report of a pistol in the room below. When they went and found the door door locked and heard some one moaning they burst open the door, and found Maj. T. J. Anderson, the husband of the lady, had committed suicide by shooting himself twice in the head, both balls entering on the right side just above the ear and within a half inch of each other. He died at about 2 a. m. The Major was a large property-owner here, and he and his wife were among the older settlers of the place, and highly respected.

A NEW BUREAU.

A Massachusetts Scheme to Establish a New Bureau of Statistics.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—W. Goodwin Moody, of Boston, called on the President to-day with a long petition signed by a thousand of the first citizens of Massachusetts, asking the establishment of a Bureau of Industry under the auspices of the government, the business of the bureau being to collect statistics as to the condition of the laboring classes. The President said he would take it into consideration.

REVOKED.

MADISON, Nov. 26.—Governor Smith to-day issued an order revoking the appointments of all commissioners of deeds issued prior to 1875. The order takes effect January 1st. Up to about the year 1877, it had been the custom to appoint commissioners to hold office during the pleasure of the governor, and of those thus appointed there are about twelve hundred, concerning whom there is no information. Therefore that the records may show who are now acting as commissioners, as well as in justice to those who are now appointed and required by law to pay a fee of $5 for an appointment for four years, it has seemed advisable to issue the order as above noted.

The majority of Wall Street, houses and men have a world wide reputation for soundness and honesty. The old house of Alex. Frothingham & Co., 13 Wall Street, New York, is entitled to absolute confidence. They state that an investment of about $100 made recently returned over $1,000 in less than sixty days. ## A Versatile Genius.

England no doubt possesses the champion jack-of-all-trades in the person of one who styles himself Prof. Purtiling and lives near Chichester. He advertises himself as a contractor, inventor, fisherman, builder, carpenter, joiner, sawyer, undertaker, turner, cooper, painter, glazier, sign-painter, wooden pump maker, paper hanger, bell hanger, boat builder, clock cleaner, locksmith, umbrella-repairer, china and glass mender, net knitter, wire worker, grocer, baker, farmer, taxidermist, copying clerk, letter writer, accountant, surveyor, engineer, land measurer, bank agent, vestry clerk, assistant over-seer, clerk to the Selsay Sparrow Club, clerk to the Selsay Sparrow Club, assessor and collector of land tax and property and income tax, collector of church and highway rates. This astonishing person has also served at sea, in four quarters of the world, as seaman, steward, sailmaker, cook, mate, and navigator.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

The President Appoints Thursday, November 28th.

By the President of the United States—A Proclamation:

The recurrence of that season at which it is the habit of our people to make thanksgiving and give thanks for their constant dependence on Divine favor for all good gifts of life and happiness, and of public peace and prosperity, as exhibited in the record of the year, the abundant harvests of the soil, the productive mines, the crops of the staples of trade and manufactures which have enriched the country; the resources thus furnished to our reviving industry and expanding commerce, and hastening the day when discord and distresses through the length and breadth of the land will, under the continued favor of Providence, have given way to confidence and energy and assured prosperity; peace with all nations has remained unbroken; domestic tranquility has prevailed, and the institutions of liberty and justice which the wisdom and valor of our fathers established, remain the glory and the defense of their children. The general prevalence of the blessings of health throughout our wide land has made more conspicuous the sufferings and sorrows which the dark shadow of pestilence has cast on a portion of our people. The heavy affliction, even the Divine Ruler has tempered to the suffering community by the universal sympathy and succor which have flowed to their relief, and the whole nation may rejoice in the unity of spirit in our people by which they cheerfully share one another's burdens.

Now, therefore, I, Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, the 28th day of November next, as a day of National thanksgiving and prayer, and I earnestly recommend that, withdrawing themselves from secular cares and labors, the people of the United States do meet together on that day in their respective places of worship, there to give thanks and praise to Almighty God for His mercies, and to devoutly beseech their continuance.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed, at the City of Washington, this 30th day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, and the independence of the United States one hundred and third.

R. B. HAYES.

WM. M. EVANS, Secretary of State.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

By the Governor of Wisconsin.

A PROCLAMATION.

Another year of health, peace and prosperity has been vouchsafed to the people of Wisconsin, mercifully reminding them, to acknowledge in a befitting manner their gratitude to Almighty God and His mercies upon him for the blessings of His providence:

Wherefore, in obedience to the custom of the country, now wisely sanctioned by law, and conforming to the recent proclamation of the President of the United States, in that behalf, I, William M. Egan, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby appoint

Thursday, the 28th day of November, instant, as a day of public thanksgiving and praise; and I recommend to all the people of Wisconsin, on that day to abstain from secular business, and to devote the day to religious observance, and to the afflicted, and by such religious and social festivities as shall comport with the occasion and best enable them to praise the Lord; to make known His deeds among the people and to all His good works.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be hereunto affixed, at the City of Madison, this seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight.

By the Governor: WILLIAM E. SMITH.

HANS B. WANKER, Secretary of State.

The Physiology of the Liver.

The liver is the largest secreting organ in the human body, and the bile which it secretes is more liable to vitiation and misdirection from its proper channels than any other of the animal fluids. Luckily for the bilious, however, there is an unfailing source of relief from liver complaint, merely, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which for over a quarter of a century has been achieving thorough cures of the above mentioned ailments, fever and ague, dyspepsia, bowel complaints, rheumatic and kidney affections, and disorders involving loss of nervous vigor. It is, moreover, a preventive of malarial disease, and affords protection to thousands of persons residing in districts of country where that dire scourge is prevalent. As a remedy adapted to the medicinal requirement of families, it is supremely desirable, and as a means of fortifying a debilitated system, it is thoroughly to be depended upon.
